REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS

In the Department of Student Aid, 202 men have received financial assistance to the amount of $9,615.

During the period of fifteen years ending June 1, 1908, the number of students who have received assistance each year and the amounts of money annually appropriated are as follows:

Years	Students	Amounts
1893–94	404	$28,540.00
1894–95	335	24,700.00
1895–96	347	20,426.00
1896–97	321	15,200.00
1897–98	206	13,800.00
1898–99	162	8,825.00
1899–00	108	6,850.00
1900–01	139	6,851.00
1901–02	151	7,336.00
1902–03	162	7,850.00
1903–04	181	8,836.00
1904–05	192	9,200.00
1905–06	180	8,750.00
1906–07	185	8,996.00
1907–08	202	9,615.00

In view of the increasing needs of the growing institutions upon the Society's list, the Directors voted to confine the appropriations in this department to the income of trust funds designated for student aid, with the understanding that applications beyond this amount would be dealt with by methods to be determined by the Directors.

This action was taken in the hope that seminaries and colleges possessing generous resources for this purpose would assume the entire responsibility in aiding such of their students as needed financial assistance, and thus allow the Society to provide for worthy foreign students.

The Directors are also of the opinion that the appropriations of the Society's funds should be made to the most worthy and promising applicants, and they look to the examining committees in the colleges and seminaries for the hearty coöperation in securing this end.

In view of the growing importance of the work among foreign-speaking peoples of our country, it is evident that not only should a ministry be raised from among these various peoples, but that our own American students should be equipped to carry on such a ministry by a knowledge of foreign languages and customs; and to this end the Directors voted to "recommend to the governing boards of the Congregational seminaries of this country that scholarships or fellowships be created or used, for the purpose of sending graduate students of high standing to Europe to study the languages and habits of such peoples as have immigrated to this country in large numbers, with the object in view of preparing them to serve such populations in connection with the churches to which they may be called; and that in a limited number of such cases the Education Society will grant a double scholarship in addition to the amount of the scholarship or fellowship given by the seminary."

COLLEGES

Rollins in Florida, Fairmount in Kansas, Kingfisher in Oklahoma, Redfield in South Dakota, have been on the Society's list this year.

President H. E. Thayer of Fairmount College was elected to the position made vacant by the death of President Morrison.

Redfield and Kingfisher Colleges will soon fill the vacancies made by the resignations of Presidents House and Seil.

Rollins remains under the able leadership of President Blackman.

During the year North Wisconsin Academy, Ashland, Wisconsin, became incorporated under the name of Northland College. Rev. M. J. Fenenga is president. The effort to secure an endowment of $100,000 is well under way, and the Society has promised the last $5,000.

NORTHLAND COLLEGE, WISCONSIN. DORMITORY, ETC.

NORTHLAND COLLEGE STUDENTS IN THE BOOKBINDERY — WORKING THEIR WAY

The Directors report with gratification that the Congregational state bodies in Montana and Texas have appointed committees to confer with the Education Society with reference to the organization of new colleges in their respective states. The Directors wish to declare their approval of this interest, and trust that negotiations will result in the founding of new colleges.

STATE UNIVERSITIES

In certain Western states Congregationalists have felt the need of special religious efforts in behalf of the large numbers of their own sons and daughters attending state universities.

Appeals have been made to the Directors, during the year, asking that the Society take this work under its auspices. These appeals certainly offer a new opportunity to the Society, and possibly a new duty. There seems to be a call for two things, namely, an able and tactful leader in these state universities, who shall have a pastoral care over our students and give courses of Biblical and religious instruction; and a second thing is a suitable denominational house, which shall serve as a religious home and meeting place for our Congregational students, something after the style of the Phillips Brooks House, Harvard University.

The Society stands ready to enter into this new service whenever the resources are at hand.

ACADEMIES

Procter, Gordon, Kidder, Rogers, Iberia, Paradise, Windom, Phillips, Ward, Southern Collegiate, Thorsby, Southern Kansas, Northwestern, Weeping Water, Franklin, Gates, and Chadron Academies have been on the Society's list.

Chadron has paid its long-standing debt of $11,000, and Weeping Water its debt of over $4,000.

Paradise Institute, in Northeastern California, elected a prominent business man of that section of the country, Mr. C. S. Compton, to the principalship made vacant by the resignation of Rev. J. H. Harwood.

Southern Collegiate has secured $41,000 of the $50,000 needed for endowment.

Northwestern Academy of Oklahoma, after a brief suspension, will open its doors in September.

Rogers Academy, in Arkansas, has just celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary, paid its floating debt, and the outlook is unusually promising.

PARADISE INSTITUTE, CALIFORNIA

Procter Academy, Utah, has added a business course, and its enrollment of 328 students gives it rank among the largest schools in the state.

UTAH

The Society's schools in Utah are located in Salt Lake City, Bountiful, Lehi, Heber, Coalville, Provo, and Vernal.

The pastor of the Congregational church of Provo is also one of the teachers of Procter Academy.

Rev. Ludwig Thomsen, principal of Willcox School, in Vernal, is also pastor of the Kingsbury Congregational Church of that town.

The growth of Willcox School has reached the point where larger accommodations are imperative, and the continued inflow of population into the Ashley Valley warrants increased appropriations at that point. The building should be enlarged to twice its present capacity.

Procter Academy needs a dormitory in order to accommodate boarding pupils, who would attend this well-known school if a building were provided.

The work in Lehi is promising, and if the Congregational Home Missionary Society would send a minister to conduct religious work, he could also act as principal of our school and open a high school department, which is greatly needed.

Rev. S. H. Goodwin, principal of Provo Academy, has given up the pastorate of his church, and now devotes his entire time to the academy and to his duties as superintendent of the Society's work in Utah.

NEW MEXICO

The schools in New Mexico are prosperous.

The school at San Mateo has grown beyond its present limit, and by means of the generous contribution of the New York Woman's Union the present school building has been enlarged to twice its present size.

Mrs. L. A. Collings, after a long and faithful service, feels compelled to take a year's rest, and the school next year will be conducted by her daughter, Miss Laura W. Collings.

Miss Meda Hess, M.D., has taken up the long-needed work in Seboyeta as medical missionary. Her especially efficient service in Turkey under the American Board fits her for this position. She finds that in New Mexico the demand for the medical missionary is as imperative as in Turkey. She is a teacher of our school.

It is gratifying to be able to report that the Industrial School will be opened in September. The experiment of coeducation is to be tried, which is something new in this territory.

The large house on the Society's ranch is being enlarged to serve as dining hall and dormitory for girls. A new adobe and cement building of Spanish architecture is to be erected to serve as recitation hall and dormitory for boys.

Rev. A. C. Heyman, a graduate of this year's senior class, Chicago Theological Seminary, has been chosen principal, and he is already upon the ground.

Rev. J. H. Heald, superintendent of the Society's educational work in New Mexico, also superintendent for the Home Missionary Society, leads a busy life in caring for all the Congregational interests intrusted to his care. His thorough knowledge of Mexican character and the Spanish language gives him high standing among the natives and influence among the Americans. The citizens of New Mexico, irrespective of race and creed, unite in cordial appreciation of the services rendered the state by the Society's schools.

The Vermont School at Barelas will remain open during the coming year, and offers special courses of instruction to young girls along practical lines.

The Directors have also voted to open a new school in a village twenty miles north of Seboyeta as soon as the necessary funds are in hand.

THE FINNISH SCHOOL

This school, under the joint management of the Congregational Education Society and the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, has been held in the Dewing Memorial, Revere, Massachusetts.

During the year twelve have been in attendance. The Home Missionary Society has more demands for Finnish workers than this school can provide. During the summer months they are all engaged in preaching and teaching among their countrymen. There are said to be 700,000 Finns in this country, and probably 20,000 in Massachusetts.

The instruction has been given by President K. Henrikson, who has been compelled to give up his pastorate in Quincy in order to devote more time to this school. The Home Missionary Society is responsible for his salary, and employs him also as superintendent of Finnish work in this state. Mr. Wainio has been the assistant instructor in Finnish. His salary is paid by the Education Society, which also pays the rent of the building and gives financial assistance to the students.

Professors Hincks, Platner, and Day, of Andover Theological Seminary, and Professor Ropes, of the Harvard Divinity School, have generously volunteered their services and given six lectures each during the winter, to the appreciation and profit of the Finnish students.

The Education Society has secured a house in Cambridgeport, where the school will be held for the year beginning September, 1908, when it will be known as The Congregational Institute of Cambridge.

The trustees of Andover Theological Seminary have expressed their willingness to contribute financially toward its support; compensate such students of the seminary as may be willing to teach English; furnish the dormitories in the new hall, and make a substantial donation for the purchase of necessary reference books in Finnish and English. It is confidently expected, also, that members of the Andover faculty will continue their voluntary services.

While the trustees of Andover Seminary are in no way connected with, or responsible for, the management of this Finnish School, their continued sympathy and coöperation will have an important bearing upon the development of the work which is coming to have increasing recognition in the missionary activities of the churches.

While the two societies above named have been sponsors for the school, it is hoped that in the near future it shall be transferred to the care of an independent board of trustees.

DEPARTMENT OF SUPPORT

The Directors have acted in the belief that a wider knowledge of the work of this Society among the churches would create larger interest and a more generous support. To this end, therefore, they invited representatives of different parts of the field to assist the Secretary in his presentation of the Society to the churches.

Rev. J. H. Harwood, of Northeastern California; Rev. M. J. Fenenga, of Northland College; Miss Olive G. Gibson and Mrs. L. A. Collings, of New Mexico, have rendered such assistance during the year. Mr. Fenenga for three months, and Miss Gibson since September, 1907, have stimulated churches, Sunday schools, young people's societies, women's benevolent organizations, men's clubs, by their effective addresses. Miss Gibson has made 147 addresses, Mr. Fenenga 43. The total number of addresses for the year is 244.

The Directors wish to record their appreciation of the generous support given by the Women's Home Missionary Associations of the country. In some instances the entire salary list of a given school is assumed by a state union.

The Directors indorse these noble efforts, and are glad to render whatever assistance may be necessary to maintain and increase this interest.

The Directors appointed one of their number, Rev. Harris G. Hale, of Brookline, as their deputy to investigate certain fields, and his visits to Kansas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico and his report on the condition of these fields were of special value. The Directors are of the opinion that occasional deputations of this character bring new facts and important information which materially assist them in solving the many important problems presented for their consideration. The Directors are also under obligation to Secretary Sanders, Prof. A. B. Hart, and Dr. Campbell for visits, at their own charges, to various institutions, and for suggestive reports on the institutions visited.

The Western office, in the charge of Theodore Clifton, D.D., the Western Field Secretary, has for its purpose the stimulation of the interest of our Western churches in this work. Dr. Clifton has unusual success in raising funds for institutions in financial straits, and his services are rendered to raise endowments and to wipe out long standing debts.

REPORT OF WESTERN FIELD SECRETARY

Theodore Clifton, D.D., Chicago

This year completes a decade of service with the Education Society, and so is a fitting time for a brief reference to the past. The Western office is not much over twenty years old so far as contributions are concerned, the entire sum given in the fiscal year closing June 1, 1888, being only $2,433.43. During the next ten years there was considerable growth, particularly after the union of the work of the New West Education Commission and the Education Society, in 1893, a growth occasioned chiefly by this union, the decade closing with a total of $98,767, or an average of $9,876.70 a year.

But the largest growth has been during the decade just closed, nearly a quarter of a million dollars in this time having gone into the Boston treasury from the West to aid the Society's institutions and the general cause. This is an increase of more than two and one-half fold over the income of the previous ten years. To be exact, in this time $247,971.41 has been raised in the West for the Society and its institutions. This does not include $47,500 procured towards the endowment of one college and two academies on the Society's list, but the actual money which passed through the Society's treasury. The smallest income in any one year of this decade, $18,369.41 the first year, was larger than the largest income of any previous year in the history of the Western office. The largest income of any one year of the decade was $36,436.77.

While the increase in the number of contributing churches in the Western field has not kept pace with the financial growth, much of this quarter of a million dollars having been solicited from individuals to save debt-ridden and imperiled institutions, there have been substantial gains in this direction despite a serious handicap difficult to overcome. Scores of the financially poor and distressed educational institutions of the denomination are located in this territory, including nearly all of the institutions on the Society's list. These schools, both colleges and academies, as well as the Chicago Seminary, are appealing constantly for annual offerings from the churches. Large numbers of churches substitute the local institution for the Society, and refuse to make more than one offering a year for the cause of Christian education, thus cutting seriously into the income of the Society for its general purposes. But, notwithstanding this handicap, the number of Western churches contributing to the Society has steadily increased. In 1888 only 128 churches sent in annual offerings; in 1898, 375 churches; and during the fiscal year just closed 505, a gain of 400 per cent in the twenty years. Still, hundreds of churches in the West do not as yet give a penny to this cause, churches, too, many of them, whose pastors were aided by the Education Society. This situation ought to be remedied. To induce these churches to give is one of the earnest tasks of the immediate future.

The Wall Street flurry in October, followed by hard times ever since, has made this the most difficult year of the decade to get money. Yet the total income from all sources for all purposes is but little below the average for the ten years just passed, the remittances of the 505 Western churches above and the contributions of 150 individual givers contributing to the final result.

During the year eighty-four addresses were delivered in ten different states, most of them at the Sunday morning services of the churches, presenting the general work of the Society and soliciting funds for the same. But other addresses for a like purpose were made before Congregational clubs and at alumni banquets, as well as at state and local associations. The usual difficulty in reaching the state association meetings, because of their proximity as to time and wide distances apart, was encountered. Four associations were visited, North Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, and Indiana. At the North Dakota Association two addresses were delivered, and the same at the association meeting in Nebraska, in each case some of the best hours of the day and evening being given to this cause.

Three special tasks during the year were undertaken.

The first was to raise $6,000 in Minnesota to clear Windom Institute of all indebtedness. This task was attempted and carried through finally to completion, with the distinct understanding that the friends of Windom Institute would henceforth cease all appeals to the churches of Minnesota for annual contributions, thus leaving the state an open field for the Education Society.

The next undertaking was to go into North Dakota to assist Phillips Academy at New Rockford in that state. A heavy debt had accumulated, and towards its liquidation a total of $3,090 in cash and conditional pledges was raised.

The third and last task of the year was to assist in a movement in Missouri, inaugurated by the State Congregational Association, to raise $75,000 for Drury College and the three academies of the Southwest—Iberia, Kidder, and Rogers. A special committee of nine appointed by the state association was organized, the work commenced, and $17,500 secured, most of it in conditional pledges, when the financial flurry already referred to made a suspension of all further efforts for the time being a necessity. In these three special campaigns, a total of $26,590 in cash and pledges was procured.

The year closed with a visit to Rogers Academy at Rogers, Arkansas, in connection with the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of that institution, to preach the baccalaureate sermon, to give an address at a reunion on the academy campus, to speak at the alumni banquet, and more important still, to help the trustees provide for the present and plan for the future. A deficit of $1,200 on the current expenses of the year was quickly provided for, friends pledging $900 and the Society granting the last $300 from its general fund, thus closing the most prosperous year in the history of the school without debt and with a future full of promise.

The history of Rogers Academy is typical of one phase of the work the Education Society has been doing in the Interior in recent years. Only four years ago this school was burdened with debt and threatened with foreclosure. Its very life was in peril and the trustees were in despair. At this juncture the Society, chiefly by means of a vigorous campaign in Missouri, paid the debt and saved the institution. In a similar way, in their respective localities, five other academies, all now prosperous, have been saved by delivering them from the gall and bondage of crushing debts. Besides these, six other academies and four colleges, sixteen institutions in all, have felt in this way, as well as by grants from its general fund, the touch and inspiration of the Society's helpful hand. The splendid usefulness of all these institutions, coupled with the still broader work of the Society for the country and the kingdom of God, ought to be a convincing appeal to the pastors and churches of the West to be more generous in their support.

German Institute

Professor H. Obenhaus

THE raising of the requirements for entrance to the German Institute resulted in a temporary loss, there having been only 9 men in residence during the past year. Two of the students graduated this spring and have taken up work in North and South Dakota, respectively.

The need of men in our German work, owing to its rapid development, is very great. We could have placed a dozen men in the newly organized churches at once had we had them.

About 20 churches have been organized since last summer, and some of the pastors are obliged to care for them in groups of half a dozen or more. One pastor in South Dakota has had no less than a dozen to look after, with a student as assistant.

Most of our churches are in the West, our work having been begun too late for the East. Had this not been so, there would have been great numbers, for Germans take very kindly to the Congregational way whenever they become acquainted with it. Hundreds of the strongest German churches in the East are independent organizations, and never have been anything else. They might just as well have been Congregational. There are several Congregational churches in the Eastern states: Clinton and Fitchburg, Massachusetts; Ansonia, Connecticut; Brooklyn, New York; and Little Ferry, New Jersey.

This summer, as usual, all of our undergraduates are preaching. The prospect for a large incoming class is bright. Several young men who have just graduated from our Redfield, South Dakota, school are expecting to enter the institute this fall, and two others are coming from elsewhere.

We ought again to have the services of another teacher doing full work, to do justice to the teaching. Dr. Eversz, who so kindly has stepped in the breach and has given some instruction during a part of the year, is greatly needed for the superintendence of these 200 churches, with their 10,000 members, many of whom are new and as yet unacquainted with our Congregational ways. There are numerous calls from fields yet to be organized. Would that some good man or woman might be moved by the Lord to endow this work! Nowhere would money count for more and do more good than right here.

Swedish Institute

Professor Fridolf Risberg

The number of students has been 21; viz., 10 in the senior class, 5 in the middle class, and 6 in the junior class, which is a little smaller number than last school year.

Twelve of these students have come from Congregational churches, the balance from independent churches. Eleven have come from the Eastern states and 10 from Chicago and the West.

In the graduating class, 1 now is pastor in a Congregational church in the East, 2 will study in some academy or college, and 7 have taken charge of independent or Congregational churches or of a home mission field.

During the school year 6 students have had regular charge of Swedish churches in Chicago and vicinity; 12 others have been preaching more or less regularly, 3 of whom have had mission work among the Finns; all students in the two upper classes have preached regularly in our Swedish Bethlehem (Congregational) Church, which is an outcome of our students' work twenty-two years ago. Professor Peterson is pastor of that church and conducts these meetings. The students in the junior class have led the prayer meetings, and some students have had Sunday school classes there.

Danish-Norwegian Institute

Professor R. A. Jernberg

The graduating class numbered 3 men. One of these takes an American church in North Dakota, another goes to Portland, Maine, as pastor of our Norwegian church there, and to be the general missionary of that work in the state of Maine, while the third man remains in Chicago in the important position of assistant editor of our weekly paper, Evangelisten. Three young men of more than usual ability have thus been added to our work.

The middle class is also busily engaged in religious work during the summer vacation. One man is associated with the Danish pastor in Jamestown, New York, caring for his outstations in New York and Pennsylvania. Another is in evangelistic work in Minnesota, with one of the large tents which are put into commission in the Norwegian communities throughout the West every summer. A third member of the class is similarly engaged in North Dakota.

Even the junior class has been called out into the service this year, one man supplying the pulpit of the Norwegian church in Muskegon, Michigan, another is associated with the pastor in Maple Valley, Wisconsin, and a third is employed in the tent work in Minnesota. It will be seen from this how varied and extensive is the influence of the institute even while the men are still students in the seminary.

We have had a very profitable year, perhaps the best in the history of the institute. Fourteen students have continued their work through the year, and the prospect is good for a junior class of six men, which is about as many as can be cared for.

The arrangement made with the Congregational Home Missionary Society last year, by which Professor Grauer was made superintendent of our Norwegian work, has worked well, though the new work has taken his time from teaching and thus added to the responsibility of the other teachers in the institutes. But the financial situation has been greatly relieved by this arrangement, as well as by the timely help of the Education Society.

COLLEGES

Fairmount College, Wichita, Kansas

President Henry E. Thayer

The year just closed has been one of peculiar hardship and transition, yet we feel that we have made a good record and the good name of the college has been strengthened. Dr. Morrison's death, near the close of the previous year, left the policy of the school confused. To add to the difficulty our Dean Isely, who had been with the college from the beginning, passed beyond just before the opening of the year. At the end of the first semester Dean Kingsbury was compelled to go South with his wife, and other sickness made havoc with us. However, we rallied our forces, and the instruction has been of a high order, and the class that goes forth is one of the best that we have sent out. Fifteen took the degree of Bachelor of Arts. One degree of Master of Arts was conferred. Twenty were graduated from the academy and six from the department of music.

The library, which should have been ready for use a year ago, is now nearly finished, and will be in use at the opening of the next school year. During the spring the students raised a considerable sum to erect a temporary gymnasium. This will be built at once. The raising of the fund for building the gymnasium is considered as a rare testimonial of the loyalty and enthusiasm of the Fairmount students.

We are in sad need of a dormitory for our girls. It would be a great advertisement for us and is greatly needed, as the accommodations we have for housing our young women are not sufficient or suitable.

The religious life of the school is gratifying. Nearly the entire number of young women is to be found in the membership of the Young Women's Christian Association. The Young Men's Christian Association has been a very active feature in the life of the college. I am sure there are few schools that show a more wholesome ethical and religious tone than Fairmount.

It is pleasant to know that the city and the Southwest heartily believe in us. We have a fine body of men in our organization, and the name of the college is always mentioned with honor.

Kingfisher College, Kingfisher, Oklahoma

Rev. J. H. Parker, President Board of Trustees

Kingfisher College has just graduated the largest class in its history. Eleven received their diplomas from the classical course, and one her diploma and degree in the musical. The young ladies outnumbered the young men two to one, and one of the fairer sex was valedictorian. On their grades three receive from the state teacher's life certificates and six ten-year certificates, while the other three made no application. Three of the four young men in this class have successfully passed the examination for the Rhodes' Scholarship. The representative of Kingfisher who has just finished the course in Oxford has been appointed to a professorship in Princeton. These facts indicate the kind of work which this college is doing for the young women and men under her care.

The industrial features of the school are very important and need strengthening in order that students who need to work their way to an education can be so aided. The broom factory should be enlarged, the stone plant increased, the printing office added to, and the farm supplied with stock and machinery.

The Musical Department, under the directorship of Prof. F. L. Drake, has made a great advance this last year, and larger plans are in mind for the coming year. Several new pianos are a necessity for the coming season.

The room used for a library is overcrowded. We need some generous-spirited giver to erect a building that will give adequate accommodations for this necessary adjunct to college work.

As the growing boy is always hungry, so it is with the college, and many more needs might be mentioned for Kingfisher. Above and beyond all now is the call for the right man for president. J. T. House, who during the last thirteen years has been successful in securing equipment of this school, resigned and left in March. A grand opportunity awaits his successor. Who is the master mind, heart, and hand who can and will work out our problem for Christian education in Oklahoma? This grand temperance state needs still the missionary and heroic spirits to guide and guard the interests of God's kingdom in her midst, and no school of learning stands before Kingfisher College in importance and influence. We thank God for the past and trust him for the future, knowing that a faith that worketh by love is the kind that he approves and honors.

Redfield College, Redfield, South Dakota

A. Loomis, Treasurer

Those who have been connected longest with Redfield College have no hesitation in saying that this has been, in many particulars, the most satisfactory year of its existence.

The increase in enrollment has been remarkable, and, furthermore, the students, with very few exceptions, have remained throughout the entire year. The quality of the work done in the various departments and classes was such that almost no conditions or failures were reported.

The religious spirit of the institution is deep and abiding. Besides the regular theological students there are several Student Volunteers, and we are expecting many more to enter the mission field.

Much of this spirit is due to the ever increasing influence of the Young Men's Christian Association and Young Women's Christian Association. A dozen men went to the state convention and four to the Geneva conference, the largest delegations of any school in the state. Nearly as large a delegation attended the state Young Women's Christian Association meeting, and four or five girls will be at the Cascade conference.

Hitherto many of the instructors have been young and inexperienced, and frequent changes have occurred; but this year three men with families have been added, who are building commodious residences near the college, a fact which should add much to the social life of the school. Two or three other additional teachers are to be employed for the ensuing year.

The campus grows more beautiful from year to year. It occupies, with the exception of a few lots, four full blocks in the south part of the town, which is the choice locality for the newer residences. It is already nearly surrounded with fine trees, and another row has been added outside these this spring.

The new sewer, so long promised, has been completed past the campus, entailing an expense of $800 to the college, while lack of funds prevents our making immediate use of it for the college buildings. It will doubtless require nearly $2,000 to put in suitable toilet rooms, but there is nothing else which the school so much needs. At the same time, our new gymnasium should be fitted with shower baths and tubs, besides other additional equipment.

We trust the coming year may see our second $50,000 endowment raised, that we may secure the new library building promised by Mr. Carnegie.

Our reference libraries, in all departments, need replenishing. The Science Department requires several hundred dollars' worth of equipment to properly meet the needs of the school. The chapel should have new furnishings and is in immediate need of new and suitable hymnals.

It is to be hoped that money may be secured to install electricity in the dormitory and throughout the building, both as a precaution against a second fire as well as for convenience.

While we feel that the college has been steadily progressing, we have been greatly handicapped through laboring all the year without a president or a financial agent.

Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida

President William F. Blackman

In my last annual report I pointed out the fact that Rollins College had reached the limit of growth with its present equipment, and made appeal for several new buildings.

Happily, two of these buildings have been provided for and are now in process of erection. The library and administration building, the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie, will be a handsome and commodious structure, about one hundred feet in length, in the Spanish style, of white brick and red tile roof. Chase Hall, the dormitory for young men, will be similar in material and style, and slightly smaller. It is expected that both of these buildings will be ready for use in the early fall.

At the annual meeting of the trustees, held in February, the sum of $7,500 was contributed by four members of the board, to be expended chiefly in improvements on the campus. Two buildings have been removed, in order to provide suitable sites for Carnegie and Chase Halls, and a pneumatic water supply system has been installed, furnishing an abundance of water both for ordinary use and for fire protection. The entire plumbing system of the campus has been renewed, and all the dormitories supplied with lavatories and closets.

The most immediate and pressing need of the college is for books. Not less than $5,000 ought to be expended the present summer in the purchase of standard works, for lack of which the institution has seriously suffered hitherto. The friends of the school and of Southern education are earnestly besought to contribute for the meeting of this need, either money or books of permanent value.

The college is also in great need of a hall of science, a hall of arts, and a chapel, and its present endowment fund should be doubled. In particular, there should be a fund of considerable size, the income of which should be devoted to the employment of young men and women of marked character and ability, who are working their own way through college.

During the past year there has been a quiet but unusually deep religious interest among the students. Nearly all the pupils, of all denominations, have attended the services of the Congregational church, whose pastor, Rev. F. R. Marsh, himself a Presbyterian, has been especially interested in the students and has powerfully influenced them. The Young Men's Christian Association and Young Women's Christian Association have been more than commonly active, and the general tone of the institution has been serious and earnest. Unhappily, few of our young people are looking forward to the Christian ministry or to other forms of professional religious service.

UTAH

Rev. S. H. Goodwin, Field Superintendent

"WATCHMAN, what of the night?" We do not know, but we do know that we are swinging into the dawn of better things out here in Utah. This movement is not rapid, but is perceptible and sure. There is a better atmosphere, a better spirit, in this inland empire than was present ten years ago. The work of Christian people, and the potency of the influences set in operation by them, are producing their legitimate fruits.

Only last week one said to me:

"You people are pursuing the right course; only slaves can be driven, but there are many ways of winning them to your point of view."

But to the worker in the field, and to those who hold up his hands, such conditions are not as manifest or as encouraging as sometimes is desired.

One part of our policy in carrying forward this work, in addition to the so-called "regular work" of the schoolroom and the duties growing out of that work, is to establish as many points of contact as possible between the workers and the people.

Our teachers enter into the life and interests of the communities in which they live just as far as this is possible.

During the past year the superintendent has been called upon frequently for addresses on different phases of Utah bird life. This work has brought him before the several hundred teachers of the Salt Lake City schools; into schools in other parts of the state; before farmers' institutes and similar gatherings; and into the University of Utah, where he gave a series of ten lectures on bird life. This has served

REV. S. H. GOODWIN, FIELD SUPERINTENDENT,
PROVO, UTAH

LEHI. SCHOLARS AND THREE TEACHERS

not only to make one man better known in the state, but also, and primarily, to introduce our work to very many who knew little or nothing about it.

The story of the schools is told briefly under the reports of the several schools, but more needs to be said concerning two of these institutions.

The Vernal school, in that field of promise over in Eastern Utah, is in better condition than it has been at any time. The new principal, Rev. Ludwig Thomsen, has taken up his duties with zeal and discretion, and though the enrollment was not quite as large as in previous years, the spirit was fine and the character of the work highly satisfactory.

The work there is woefully cramped—handicapped, in fact—by insufficient quarters. The new schoolhouse was outgrown long ago, and the church building had to be used. This seriously retards the work and almost demoralizes discipline, for to have children passing from one building to another for class work encourages remissness in many ways. Then the church is not fitted for the work, chairs and rickety tables have to be used, and it is extremely difficult to maintain order under such conditions. We need an addition to the building; we must have it if the work there is not to be permanently crippled. We have the right man in charge of the work; we cannot afford to neutralize his efforts by continuing to struggle along under such disadvantages.

The other school that deserves a special word is Procter Academy of Provo. It has just completed a most successful year of work, considering its equipment—the twenty-fourth of its existence. Last year a chemical laboratory was provided and the course in chemistry took a strong hold of the students, and a course in stenography and typewriting was offered.

This school is thoroughly established. Its graduates and students are scattered in various parts of this great Western country; they are in schools, offices, the professions, and in the home. Graduates of earlier classes who have their homes here send their children to us, and those who go from us to teach maintain a high standard of efficiency.

The influence of this institution is far-reaching and potent, but we must extend our usefulness and widen the borders of our influence. Every fall we turn away students because we can find no suitable quarters for them. The presence here of the largest Mormon school that the church has makes a demand for accommodations that can hardly be met.

We need a dormitory, so that we may receive outside students and care for them. A sister denomination has a school in a neighboring town which has less than one-third of the number of students that are in Procter, and that school has two dormitories, one of which was built two years ago. There is no more promising opening into which money can be put than this vital need of our school in Provo. Give us a dormitory or our work will suffer irreparably. Look into the history of this school, and see if such expenditure is not amply justified by its achievements.

Bountiful

The enrollment for the year has been 35. The matter of discipline here at present is somewhat of a question. When several pupils this year, eager for an excuse to attend the beautiful new school building, with its piano and crowds of youngsters, have said, when obedience was insisted on, "O well, if I can't do as I wish about this, I'll go to the public school!" the reply has been, "Very well, you may attend what school you please, but while you attend here, you must obey."

A disagreement of this kind has lost us three pupils.

The parents, as a general thing, allow them to do as they wish and to attend the school of their own choice; so to win and keep pupils the teacher must depend solely on her own attractive power in most cases.

Rev. Peter Simpkins, of Phillips Congregational Church of Salt Lake, has usually supplied or sent a preacher for our monthly church service. It is being planned to hold a semi-monthly Sabbath service here next year, with one or two week-night services per month. If this is carried out, it will be a great benefit and encouragement to the school and teacher, and a help to the community, which is so sadly in need of light.

Coalville

Enrollment during the year was 36, the usual attendance from 17 to 24. Several backward boys, fifteen and sixteen years of age, attended during the winter months.

Contrary to expectations, most of the children remained until school closed, although the public schools dismissed four weeks earlier.

As there are very few Gentiles in Coalville, the Sunday school has been quite small. The usual attendance is 7 or 8, but we have had as many as 12. Twenty-five or 30 different ones have attended. Inducements have been offered to the children in the shape of cards, charts, and buttons.

The outlook is more encouraging than it was in the fall.

Heber

Our enrollment has been 66; average attendance, 38. This is not quite so good as we have had some years, owing to epidemics of measles and whooping cough, which even caused the public school to close for a little while.

Finding there was a probability of my being able to start a high school again this year, I came back earlier than usual and made plans to that effect. This advanced class, a very pleasant, loyal set of young people, are all graduates of the district schools.

Doubtless the fact that we had them with us caused an increase in the lower grades, so that our enrollment is greater than it was last year, in spite of removals and other losses.

There is, of course, a constant campaign against us, but it is a very quiet one.

A lady who has recently moved here told me not long ago that she questioned some children in her neighborhood about us.

They admitted that we had a good school, but said that nobody wanted to go to it because they were so "looked down upon" if they did; that we were all Catholics over here. However, as a rule they call us Methodists.

Sunday school goes on about as usual, though two of our most helpful families, in that respect, have moved. Last Sabbath there were 20 besides the teachers. The number varies from 17 or 18 to 30; rarely more than that now.

Lehi

The enrollment for the year was 115. All the grades from beginners to tenth were represented, excepting the eighth.

The outlook for next year is bright, as good, strong classes were promoted. There is reason to be proud of the new eighth grade, that now has six pupils.

Miss Smith succeeded Miss Clark as teacher of the advanced grades. She won the high regard of both pupils and patrons.

We have had a very successful school year, with the largest enrollment in years, if ever before. There seems to exist a kindly feeling for us, and our work is appreciated. At our Christmas entertainment the house was crowded, and many of the older patrons said, "It is like the earliest days of the New West, before the public schools were as attractive as now." We had a picnic, which served as a fitting finale for a busy, prosperous school year.

Willcox School, Vernal

The school year 1907–08 seems to us to have been a successful one. Our enrollment was 142. We had eleven grades, beginning with the primary and including the third year in high school. Six pupils graduated from the grammar department. The high school department has a full four-year course, but the department itself is only three years old; hence we could have no graduates yet, but at least three pupils will finish the course next year.

The work has been divided into five departments: primary, first intermediate, second intermediate, grammar, and high school. We were interrupted in the early spring by an epidemic of measles; all schools in the community were closed for two weeks, and attendance by the older pupils was reduced considerably.

We are very much in need of additional room; the grammar and high school departments hold their sessions in the Congregational church. That is unfortunate in many respects; it divides the work, and it is impossible to provide proper equipment in the church building. We earnestly hope for an addition to be put on our present school building this summer. The outlook seems bright. We are sure the school has the good will of all the people of the community.

NEW MEXICO

Report of Rev. J. H. Heald, Field Superintendent

New Mexico is old. Before ever the Pilgrim had set foot on the eastern doorstep of the continent at Plymouth Rock, the Spaniard had climbed up the back stairs into New Mexico. Even then he found here an ancient civilization, that of the Pueblos, together with the ruins of still more ancient cities and towns.

The old has persisted, in spite of the coming of the new. Old Acoma still rears its Pueblo-crowned crest to the sky and bears testimony to ancient Pueblo customs. Although the need of a lofty citadel for defensive purposes has long since passed, its people refuse to come down.

The Mexican is a mixture of the old and the new, in which the old predominates. He loves the old customs and tenaciously adheres to them.

"Why should we change our customs?" says he.

"They were good enough for our fathers, why are they not good enough for us?"

Nevertheless, a new day has dawned for New Mexico. It is becoming what its name implies, New Mexico. What I have to say in this report might almost be comprised under the heading, "New Movements in New Mexico."

In the past two years a strong tide of population (100,000 strong) has poured across our eastern border and spread over our broad territory, bringing new life and enterprise. New lands are being tamed. New towns are being built. Old towns are being aroused from long lethargy, rebuilt, and improved. Even our sleepy Mexican towns are beginning to awake and show signs of new life. New houses are being built and old ones are being improved.

REV. J. H. HEALD, FIELD SUPERINTENDENT,
ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO

The new movements have not been confined to material improvements. Quite as marked has been the improvement in other lines. A few years ago no one acquainted with New Mexico would have ventured to predict that within a short period gambling would be abolished by an act of the legislature demanded by strong public sentiment. Yet such is the case. Public gambling is a thing of the past, save in some localities where the officials are lax in the enforcement of the law.

Our saloon has ceased to be a twin evil since deprived of the legal right to rob the people through gambling devices. It is even trembling lest its other prerogatives be taken away. Already in some of our largest cities, as in Albuquerque, the license has been raised so high as to cut out a large number of saloons. The great wave of prohibition sentiment is rolling this way, and New Mexico may yet join the solid South, so far as temperance is concerned.

Marked improvement is also manifest in the public schools. An able educator has replaced the succession of political retainers in the position of territorial superintendent of schools, and similar changes have occurred in the offices of several county superintendents. New school buildings have been built in many places and better teachers installed. Even in some of our Mexican towns the people are becoming dissatisfied with the long-prevailing custom of regarding the public school as a part of the spoils of the leading political faction, and are demanding a real school.

Our own schools have not been standing still. Improvements have been made in the schoolhouses, the homes of the teachers, and in the methods of conducting the schools. We are the pioneers in the use of industrial methods in the day school in New Mexico, as we have been in many good things in the past. It has become the settled policy of our schools to train the hand as well as the head.

The most notable material improvement in our school plant this year has been made at San Mateo, where the capacity of our school buildings has been doubled by the addition of a second story.

We have had an efficient teaching force. We are particularly fortunate in having as principals of most of our schools teachers who have long been in this work and have acquired that knowledge of the language and people which is so necessary in this peculiar situation. Some one said to me not long ago:

"How did you manage to get so many nice girls into your work?"

We have some nice girls, and the older they are the better we like them. This is no disparagement of our younger teachers. They also have done efficient service. But their value will increase with years if they remain in this work.

A notable addition to our working force this year has been that of Dr. Meda Hess, at Seboyeta. We have long felt the need of a medical missionary. The total absence of medical help in our Mexican towns has been the cause of many tragedies and has caused great grief to our teachers, many of whom have themselves been constrained to turn doctor and render such aid as was within their power. The coming of a thoroughly trained physician is a great satisfaction to us all. Dr. Hess's experience as a medical missionary in Turkey has given her especial fitness for such work, and we bespeak for her great usefulness in this field.

Another new movement in our Mexican work deserves mention here, that of the placing of an evangelist in the field. Through the generosity of the Women's Home Missionary Union of New York, an efficient evangelist in the person of Rev. J. M. Moya has been located at San Mateo. While this work is being done under the direction of our sister society, the Congregational Home Missionary Society, it is the legitimate outcome of our school work. Indeed, without the school to prepare the way there would be little encouragement for the minister of the gospel in this field. But in every town where a school has been conducted a number of years, there is a good field for the native evangelist.

Among the forward movements of the year the starting of the Industrial School must be given the place of chief importance. This long-desired event, although yet in its initial stages, is actually coming to pass. The site of 160 acres purchased a year ago has been improved and made ready. New land has been subjugated. A pumping plant has been installed and put in successful operation, which will place water on a tract of valuable garden land and thereby furnish profitable employment for our boys. New buildings are already planned and in process of erection.

The newly elected principal, Rev. A. C. Heyman, is already on the ground and is grappling resolutely with the problems connected with starting a new institution, the first of its kind to be provided for the Mexican race. While the new institution does not start out with a plentiful supply of funds, it is amply endowed with opportunity and with faith and courage on the part of those who are promoting it. We cannot doubt that, as the great need of such an institution becomes known, generous friends will provide the means to meet the opportunity.

Atrisco

The total enrollment for the year is 86, with an average daily attendance of about 40.

We feel that we are coming into closer touch with our people and that they are understanding our motives more clearly.

Some of the parents who can read and appreciate what the children are doing in school have taken the trouble to come to see the children's work.

One father remarked to me that he did not begin to realize how well his children were doing, and that he was sure that other people did not.

Another father told me that the priests did not want him to send his children to the Protestant school, but that his children could learn more there than in any other school and he was more interested in his children's education than anything else, and added:

"I am a Catholic, but if my children want to be Protestants I will not object."

We are rejoiced to have Mr. Hernandez for our pastor, and hope that our church and Sunday school may grow in numbers and interest under his very proficient leadership.

Vermont School, Barelas

The total enrollment of the Barelas school was 80. The largest number in actual attendance at one time, 70.

The average daily attendance, during both the spring and winter terms, was 38. The vaccination of all the pupils in midwinter, because of the immediate proximity of smallpox, and the subsequent suffering from sore arms, lowered our average attendance a good deal, but saved us from an epidemic, probably.

The spring term was shortened, too, because of the ravages of diphtheria and spinal meningitis in one section of the village.

The work of the school progressed quite satisfactorily, despite the interruptions of the early part of the school year, for it was some time after Miss Richards's resignation before her successor could come, and it must have been confusing to the scholars to have several different instructors. Good and faithful work has been done in all the grades, however, and some of our pupils who came in from the country to attend school have developed so wonderfully that it has been a joy to watch them grow.

The industrial classes have done a good deal of sewing and serape and basket weaving, most of it outside of school hours, and have shown much interest in the work.

In a recent canvass for pupils for our Industrial School, it was found that many of the boys and girls are eager for an opportunity to work this summer, so as to earn their way there. Some of the boys are working in the mills and saving, so they may help to pay their way.

The earnest work of our regular students and the co-operation of the parents have been most encouraging. Some families have come many miles, at considerable sacrifice, to put their children in school.

The Sunday school has had an average attendance of 15 and has contributed $7.50 to the home missionary fund. The prayer meeting services have had an average attendance of 17.

Cubero

The whole number enrolled is 85; average attendance, 60; whole number enrolled in Sunday school, 105.

The improvement in regularity and promptness of attendance was very marked for the first six months of this school year, until the preparations for the celebration of Lent and for first communion caused a decrease.

As a whole, the year has been the most satisfactory of any in this mission.

We have succeeded better than we dared hope in classifying and grading the pupils and in securing an excellent standard of work.

We are gradually securing more and better work from the older pupils, and we succeed in holding the children in school for longer periods than was possible in the earlier years.

The number of our patrons is constantly increasing, and their expressions of gratitude take form both verbally and materially more frequently than in the past.

A heavy burden of responsibility has been lessened by the presence of our own Dr. Hess, as well as by the kindly aid and sympathy of a government physician stationed near us.

Medical problems, both complicated and serious, are constantly brought to our attention, which we have neither time, strength, wisdom, nor skill to solve.

We have also found our time and strength too limited to attempt more than a very small part of the industrial work we long to do. Such as we have done is very greatly appreciated by the people, which is shown by the introduction of many conveniences into the households and by many attempts at decoration.

The knowledge that our Industrial School is soon to open has been a very great stimulus throughout the year, and is certain to continue its good influence in the years to come.

San Mateo

The school has had an enrollment of 90 pupils the past year.

During the summer and fall of 1907 the school building and teachers' apartments were repaired and enlarged.

A second story of lumber was put on the adobe building, which has added much to the appearance as well as to the convenience of the school.

It is weatherboarded outside and the walls are ceiled inside. The building is painted inside and out. In the second story there is a large audience room, 43 x 23 feet, a workroom, 19 x 30 feet, and a fair-sized bedroom.

Our former building leaked badly, which interfered greatly with our school and home work.

We observed Thanksgiving Day in the usual way, having schoolrooms profusely decorated with the products of the farms. The pupils sang patriotic songs and recited Scripture. Rev. J. H. Heald gave a talk on the history of the day, and our resident pastor, Rev. J. M. Moya, preached the Thanksgiving sermon.

In the evening we invited the people of the village to a social, and they spent an enjoyable time playing old-time games, singing, and visiting.

Christmas was observed by a concert in keeping with the occasion.

The usual ceremonies of the order of Penitentes were held during Holy Week.

The last six weeks of school were spent in preparing for an exhibit for the Irrigation Congress that is to be held in Albuquerque this fall. The exhibit is to consist of translations in Spanish and English letters, stories, work in arithmetic, language, paper cutting, free-hand drawing, and water colors; in hand work, raffia and reed baskets; Mexican drawn work, quilts, doll's outfit, and miniature set of bed linen.

NEW SCHOOLHOUSE, SAN MATEO, NEW MEXICO

Miss Willard's pupils did paper cutting and folding, mat weaving, spool work, sewing cards.

We closed school May 29 with an entertainment, the principal feature of which was a humorous dialogue, which the people enjoyed intensely. We were asked to repeat it.

We have a new parsonage and resident pastor, and the people have attended all of the services with much interest.

The problems before us are hard to solve, and the only way is to do patient, consecrated work, and God in his own time will bring the desired results.

San Rafael

The enrollment has been 114 in all, about one-third of that number being pupils in the advance room; but it requires great vigilance on the part of the teachers, with "line upon line" to keep before the minds of the parents the necessity of putting first the education of their children. There is, however, such a gain in that respect over the early history of the school that we "thank God and take courage"; and as we see the substantial progress in the work of the pupils, and see them improving in their efforts to build worthily, again our hearts are glad.

Our closing exercises, coming, as they did, on the eve of Decoration Day, were given largely the nature of patriotic exercises, and the people greatly enjoyed them. They did not hesitate about expressing themselves on the subject. The principal feature of the decoration was a newly arrived 5 x 8 flag, which the children had sold flag buttons to purchase. As one of the teachers remains on the field this summer, she plans to have a flag raising, with appropriate exercises, on the Fourth of July.

We wish to acknowledge the gifts received from friends in Massachusetts, Iowa, Illinois, and Connecticut.

Seboyeta

The impetus gained by last year's thorough work carried the school forward until the new teachers could catch step, and the close of the year finds the school more significant in the community than ever.

One family living in a town eighteen miles distant, where there had never been a school, sent their son of thirteen to live here with the teachers and study in our school. Later, a family having a girl in school moved to that place, and soon after came the demand for a public school, if a suitable teacher could be found.

One of our graduates took up the work, and she is now teaching there, with an enrollment of 40 pupils. As a matter of course she established a Sunday school, and the children are having their first and only Biblical instruction.

Our enrollment this year has been 45, and our Sunday school enrollment has been practically the same, except that a number of youths, attracted by the singing, have come in, and their attendance is always to be counted on when our superintendent visits the place and preaches for us.

In January a woman physician joined the school staff. No qualified medical person has ever been located here and there is no other physician within forty-five miles.

The school children are treated free, except for a slight charge for medicines, and the parents, as well as the community at large, have not been slow to take advantage of her services.

It is hoped that ultimately she will be able to visit, at stated times, our different mission schools and the Industrial School, and give much needed instruction to the women, as well as to the pupils, on the care of the home and the sick and on general hygiene.

Each of said committees shall hold a regular monthly meeting, except in August, and the Clerk's records and all reports or abstracts of them, or copy of them, shall be kept in the rooms of the Society, in the care of the Secretary, and be open to the examination of the Directors. Other meetings of any of the said committees shall be held whenever the Chairman or any two members shall so request the Clerk in writing, provided notice of the time and place of the meeting is mailed or delivered to each member one day, at least, before the meeting. RULE 5. Institutions Committee. The Institutions Committee shall keep a book of all institutions aided by the Society and the amount granted to each, and make recommendations to the Directors of the institutions which should receive aid. The committee may also be divided into subcommittees, who may investigate and advise upon particular institutions intrusted to them.

RULE 6. The Student Aid Committee. The Student Aid Committee shall keep a book, containing the names of all students aided by the Society and the amount of the several grants; also recommend to the Directors those whom they approve for aid. The committee may likewise be divided into subcommittees for purposes of investigation and advice.

RULE 7. Western Members. The Western members will be expected to give counsel upon the appropriation of money for such academies and schools, and they shall once, at least, each year transmit to the Board at Boston a summary statement of the condition and requirements of the Society's work, as viewed by them, and this statement shall be a special topic of consideration at the first meeting of the Board after its reception.

No action shall be taken at a meeting held in either section of the country in respect to which the judgment of the members resident in the other section is specially needed, unless seasonable notice shall have been given that such action is contemplated.

A full and attested copy of the record of each meeting of the Board of Directors held in Boston shall be immediately forwarded to Chicago, and shall be either filed or transcribed in such a manner as to form a permanent record at Chicago; and an attested record of the doings of each meeting of the Board held at Chicago shall be entered upon the permanent record of the Board in Boston. A summary statement of the business done at each meeting of the members of the Western section of the Board shall also be promptly transmitted to Boston.

RULE 8. Absences. Any Eastern Director who shall be absent from one-third of the stated meetings of the Board held during any one year at Boston, or any Western Director who shall be absent from one-third of the stated meetings held during any one year at Chicago, including the meetings of the Board and of the Western section of the Board, unless excused for such absence for adequate reason by the Board or its Western section, as the case may be, shall be deemed to have vacated his office as Director, and the vacancy thus created shall be filled by the election of some other person at the next annual meeting of the Society.

RULE 9. Grants to Students. Applications for scholarships granted by this Society to students for the ministry are approved under the following rules and conditions.

(a) The Society wishes to aid young men of ability and promise who are studying in preparation for the ministry, and who are in need of assistance. The Directors rely largely upon the men themselves, who are thus aided, for assurance that their need of help is real, that they are prudent, economical in the use of money, and that they are shaping their habits of life in a manner becoming to those who are to be teachers and leaders in the Christian church, and specifically abstaining from the use of intoxicants and tobacco.

(b) To receive a grant a student in college must have reached the grade of sophomore, and must have maintained a standard in scholarship of seventy-five per cent, or an equivalent degree under varying marking systems. A beneficiary in a theological seminary must be a graduate of some college of good standing, or a man of such qualifications and promise as may largely compensate for the lack of a college course. The Directors may make grants in special cases to students outside these regular classifications.

(c) It is optional with the student whether the grant be a loan or a gift. If taken as a loan the student shall forward his note for the amount. Such notes, if paid within three years after entering the ministry, shall bear no interest, but from that time they shall bear interest at three per cent.

(d) Scholarships are assigned for one year only. Renewal must be secured by a new application each year, but may not be obtained beyond six consecutive years. The amount of the regular scholarship at present is fifty (50) dollars per annum, payable in two equal installments, December 1 and April 1. Applications should be forwarded to the Secretary before November 1 or March 1.

(e) The Board of Directors shall appoint examining committees, consisting of three persons each at different institutions, throughout the country to make careful inquiry concerning the applicant's religious character, credentials, his motives for seeking the ministry, his abilities, attainments, and promise, also his need of pecuniary aid and his willingness to conform to the rules of the Society. The Directors must depend almost entirely upon the personal estimates which are furnished by the committees appointed for that purpose in the colleges and seminaries with which these students are connected, therefore they expect that these estimates are prepared with carefulness from individual knowledge, and express distinctly the personal judgment of those from whom they come. If the committee decide to recommend an applicant they shall direct him to state in the form of application his name, age, residence, place of education, church membership, need of assistance, and any other facts which may be deemed important.

If there is no regular examining committee in the institution which a student desiring assistance is attending, the Secretary of the Society may be notified of his wish for assistance and a special committee be appointed to examine him.

(f) Before receiving a grant the applicant must give expression to his purpose of devoting his life to the Christian ministry and of taking a full course of theological education, promising that if he shall change his purpose of entering the ministry, he will, within three years after the date of the latest payment, and unless especially released by the Directors for good reasons shown, repay to the Society the whole amount of money received, with three per cent interest on the same from the time of receiving it.

(g) The income which shall provide for the payment of scholarships shall be derived from the interest upon invested funds given for this purpose, and from the gifts of the churches and of special friends for the same object. A gift of one thousand dollars ($1,000), constituting a permanent fund, of which the interest alone shall be used, shall bear the name of the donor, or such name as he may assign. The income of such a fund shall be at once and perpetually applied to the support of a student in prosecuting his studies for the ministry. Such a donor may name a student as the recipient of such a scholarship, provided his application is duly made and approved according to the regulations of the Society. The Society will act as the almoner for any benevolent individuals who desire to assist worthy young men to prepare for the ministry or to procure a Christian education, and will take charge of any funds intrusted to it for this purpose, applying them for the objects and persons designated.

RULE 10. Grants to Institutions. The rules and conditions under which the Society will aid an institution are:

1. It must present to the Directors a certified copy of its act of incorporation.

2 A certified copy of its by-laws.

3 The names of its trustees and number of its students of its several classes.

4. An abstract of title of the property to be covered by mortgage.

5. It must have secured in fee simple and unencumbered, sufficient ground for buildings and campus and assets in buildings, or in money, or in both, to the amount of $5,000.

6. No appropriation voted by the Board of Directors is payable to any institution which shall not prior to such payment have furnished to the Secretary evidence that the property is adequately insured.

7. The institution must be indorsed by the State Association or Conference of the Congregational churches, and by the local Association or Conference within the bounds of whose territory it is located, and it must annually report to the State Association or Conference and have the continued approval of the same so long as it receives aid from the Society.

8. No college will be aided until it has a freshman class of at least four students, and all other institutions must have such a number of students and such status as shall afford evidence of permanency. Every academy must be prepared to give thorough preparation for college.

9. It shall be the duty of the president or principal of each institution that receives aid from the Society to report to the Directors at least annually the financial condition of the institution, the number of its students, and all such facts in regard to its prosperity as it may be desirable for the Directors to know.

10. As the preparation, execution, and approval of the papers require time, the institution should notify the Board of Directors of this Society when the institution will be ready for the payment, and should forward papers named above three months before payment is expected to be made.

11. The time for the Board of Directors voting upon applications for current expenses is their regular meeting on the second Monday in June.

12. Application for aid must be made by a formal vote of corporate board of trustees of the institution, who must also give to this Society a first mortgage, with the usual covenants and power to foreclose (unless such action be illegal by the laws of the state), which must also be recorded, on its building and real estate to cover the sum which has been given or may be given to this institution, in case of a failure to carry out the conditions upon which such appropriations are made, namely:

(a) The institution must be and continue under the control of a self-perpetuating board of trustees, a majority of whom shall always be members in good and regular standing in a Congregational church.

(b) Every school and college aided by this Society must maintain the characteristics of a vitally Christian institution. It is expected that special attention will be given to the study of the Bible and to development of Christian character in the pupils, and that every president and principal shall be members of an evangelical church.

(c) All money received from the Society (except such as may have been designated by the donor or by unanimous vote of the Directors for other use) must be applied by the institution to the payment of salaries, to purchase of books, apparatus, or permanent endowment of chairs of instruction according to the instructions of the Directors.

(d) On failure to carry out any of the above named conditions, or in case the trustees in their management of an institution become subject to political or ecclesiastical control other than Congregational, or shall in any way be diverted from the policy of the said Congregational Education Society, as at present defined in its charter and by-laws, the Society may demand repayment of all sums advanced, and enter and foreclose their mortgage on the property.

13. In order to secure the early occupation of promising fields, and also to exert a more direct influence through the agency of Christian education in sections not yet provided with good common schools, this Society may establish and temporarily maintain academies, training and other schools in localities where it would not be possible or advisable to create local corporations. These it may own, manage, and control, with the ultimate purpose of placing them under the care of self-perpetuating boards of trustees or of disposing of them as the best interests of Christian education may seem to demand.

14. All institutions aided by the Society, either through their federation with the Society by states or by direct grants from the general fund, shall be treated as institutions under the care of the Society. The Society may also act as almoner for individual donors to institutions in the above classes and for other specified Congregational institutions.

RULE 11. Amendments. These rules may be changed by a two-thirds vote of those present and voting at any regular meeting of the Directors, notice of the proposed amendment having been given in writing at a previous meeting and in the call sent out for such meeting.
